

Abstract

This project is to design and construct a lawn mower using 5.5 gasoline engines with belt transmission, driven by gearing system and can be controlled back and forth. Centrifugal blades are used for grass cutting system. From experiment, it is proven that it performed well at a flat area.